COLONEL ANDREW K. WEAVER

Colonel Andrew K. Weaver is Commander, 88th Air Base Wing, Aeronautical Systems Center (ASC), Air Force Materiel Command (AFMC), Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. One of the largest, most diverse, and most organizationally complex bases in the Air Force, the wing provides support and services to a major acquisition center, research and development laboratories, Major Command headquarters, and flying operations. The base is home to more than 22,000 military, government civilian, and contractor employees.

A distinguished graduate of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program at the University of Calif. Berkeley, Colonel Weaver was commissioned in 1980. During his career, he has held a variety of flying and staff assignments including instructor, standardization/evaluation flight examiner, flight commander, operations officer, Air Staff action officer, major command division chief, numbered air force director, and group commander. He is master navigator with over 1,800 hours in the F-111.
